Introduction

MARCH 20TH, 2015 - LOCATION UMC UTRECHT: REFEREERRUIMTE (G04.228)

After four consecutive courses on minimally invasive esophagectomy and three courses on minimally invasive gastrectomy, we will organise for the fourth time a course on minimally invasive gastrectomy. This type of surgery is not widely performed and has been developed in the UMC Utrecht to decrease morbidity and hospital stay without compromising oncologic outcomes. These operations can only be successful when performed by a team of specialized surgeons, anesthesiologists and OR nurses.

This day is an introduction to minimally invasive gastrectomy, showing the vast possibilities as well as potential pitfalls. For that purpose, surgeons together with their nurses are invited. We are fortunate to have several experts-in-the-field to cover the whole spectrum of minimally invasive gastrectomy in the morning sessions. In the afternoon, participants will have the opportunity of hands-on experience in small groups, using cadaver as well as custom made models. Conventional endoscopic systems and new surgical techniques will be available during these hands-on sessions.

We hope to see you on this seventh hands-on course on minimally invasive Upper GI surgery.

Prof. dr. Richard van Hillegersberg
